Providing pensions advice

GENERAL APPROACH

Pension provision is an important employee benefit for all companies and employees.

It is encouraged by the Government both in terms of favourable tax treatment and political prominence although the transition to the new “pensions world “ after the introduction of recent legislation may have created additional complications.

The introduction of The Pensions Regulator, Scheme Specific Funding, the TKU requirements for trustees and many other issues means that getting the right advice is crucial.

ADVICE :: INDEPENDENT AND COST EFFECTIVE

Advice should be independent and cost effective and this is where Premier Pensions can add real value.

Our advice is truly independent, we do not have vested interests in the solution you decide upon - we will discuss your requirements with you and offer a solution to meet your needs whether that means setting up an occupational scheme or a contract based arrangement. Most importantly we will introduce other advisers as required to ensure your solution is delivered on time and on budget.

Premier Pensions Management focuses on what clients actually need and our operating costs are controlled to ensure that we can offer competitive fee rates so that our advice is cost effective.

HOW DO WE WORK?

Premier Pensions Management can work on specific short term assignments, for example reviewing existing arrangements or designing a new plan or we can work with you in the long term management of your plan.

Whilst each of our clients has a nominated client director and a consultant allocated, the wide range of experience and expertise of the senior team means that other consultants are asked to work with a client team from time to time if their specialist knowledge is relevant to a particular project or exercise.

WHO ARE WE?

Established in June 2003 to offer a different approach to pension plan management Premier Pensions Management has quickly established a reputation for first class service, innovative ideas and a willingness to work alongside other firms of advisers to ensure that clients' needs and expectations are met.
